■ WHERE YOU STAND TODAY

Canine Courtyard has one of the most enviable reputations any local business could ask for — a 4.9 rating across 495 reviews, with your grooming praised by name 55-plus times. And yet the website is essentially a single-page brochure: it has no phone number anywhere, no online booking, no service or pricing pages, and not one of those 495 reviews is shown. You have built an elite business and hidden it behind a flyer. The reputation is doing all the work; the website is quietly turning ready-to-book customers away.

■ TOP SHELF SCORECARD

Our assessment of each part of your online presence, graded A–F and backed by the specific findings below.

DIMENSION	GRADE	ASSESSMENT
Google Profile  93	A	A 4.9 across 495 reviews with warm owner responses, strong categories and good photos — a best-in-class local asset.
Reviews / Reputation  94	A	495 reviews at 4.9 with grooming named 55-plus times — an elite, hard-to-replicate moat most competitors will never match.
Website quality  40	D-	A single-page brochure with no phone number, no service pages and no pricing — it under-serves an elite business badly.

DIMENSION	GRADE	ASSESSMENT
Local / niche SEO  48	D ⁺	Almost no content to rank on: minimal local signals for 'dog boarding / daycare / grooming Flower Mound & Highland Village.'
Lead conversion  35	F	No phone number, no booking and no reviews shown — the site actively loses ready customers instead of capturing them.

O2 Google Business Profile Audit

For a pet-care business, the Google Business Profile is where 'dog boarding near me' and 'dog grooming Flower Mound' searches turn into booked stays and grooms. Canine Courtyard's profile is excellent — which makes the missed upside almost entirely about pointing that traffic at a website capable of converting it.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Business info & hours	A	 90	Name, category, hours and both locations are complete and consistent — a clean, trustworthy profile.
Categories & services	A	 90	Strong, accurate categories (dog day care, pet boarding, pet groomer) that match exactly what customers search for.
Photos & media	A ⁻	 86	A good, appealing set of facility and dog photos that convey a clean, active, well-run operation.
Google Posts	C	 60	Little to no recent Google Posts — a free, easy way to surface seasonal boarding, grooming specials and holiday availability.
Reviews & responses	A	 96	495 reviews at 4.9 with warm, personal owner responses — elite. Grooming is named 55-plus times. Keep the response habit up.
Questions & answers	C	 58	The Q&A section is largely empty; seeding common questions (vaccination requirements, pricing, drop-off hours) would pre-answer buyers.
Map-Pack visibility	B	 76	Strong for the immediate area on reputation alone, but a near-empty website caps how far that Map-Pack strength can reach.

Detailed findings

A world-class reputation the website never mentions

495 reviews at 4.9 is the kind of proof most pet businesses will never accumulate — and grooming alone is praised by name in 55-plus of them. Yet a customer who lands on your website sees none of it: no rating badge, no review wall, not a single quote. The single biggest disconnect in your entire digital presence is that your best asset lives only on Google and never appears on the site you actually control.

Warm owner responses are a persuasion engine going unused

The profile shows a genuine owner voice — thoughtful, personal replies that make a nervous dog parent trust you with their pet. Those exchanges, and the recurring praise for grooming and the caring staff, are exactly what converts a first-time boarder. Surfacing them on the website and in Google Posts would turn a 4.9 badge into an always-on sales pitch.

Quick wins for your profile

- Start posting to Google 1-2x/month (boarding availability, grooming specials, holiday cut-off dates).
- Seed 6-8 Q&A entries with real buyer questions (vaccination requirements, pricing ranges, drop-off/pick-up hours, which location suits which dog).
- Add fresh photos of both locations and recent grooming results to keep the profile active.
- Keep responding to every review — and gently ask happy customers to name the service (grooming, boarding, daycare) and their city.
- Confirm the profile clearly distinguishes the two locations (Flower Mound = social/active, Lewisville = calm) so searchers self-select.

How you compare locally Against nearby daycare, boarding and grooming profiles, Canine Courtyard's rating and review volume beat almost everyone — 495 reviews is a genuine moat. But several competitors pair a good-enough profile with a website that actually books appointments, shows prices and displays reviews, which lets weaker reputations win the customer at the final click. Canine Courtyard is winning the reputation battle and losing the conversion one purely on website mechanics.

03 Website & SEO Audit

■ TECHNICAL & PERFORMANCE

Before a page can rank or convert, it has to load fast, work on a phone, and be readable by Google. For a one-page brochure the good news is there's little to slow it down — the problem is there's almost nothing there for Google to work with.

Page speed (mobile)	B	 74	A single lightweight page loads quickly on mobile — one of the few upsides of having so little content.
Core Web Vitals	B ⁻	 70	Likely fine given the minimal page, though this is untested; more content later will need to preserve it.
Mobile-friendliness	B ⁻	 70	Renders acceptably on a phone, where nearly all pet-care searches happen — a base to build on.
Crawlability & indexing	C ⁻	 52	There's essentially one page to crawl; with no service, pricing or location pages, Google has almost nothing to index or rank.
Structured data (schema)	F	 30	No visible LocalBusiness / Service schema — invisible to rich results and AI answers, and no way to expose your two locations or ratings.
HTTPS & security	A	 92	Served over HTTPS with a valid certificate — no issues here.

Detailed findings

The technical problem is emptiness, not slowness

This isn't a bloated, broken site — it's a nearly empty one. The single most valuable technical work isn't shaving milliseconds; it's giving Google something to index: real service pages, two location pages, and LocalBusiness + Service schema that exposes your 4.9 rating and both addresses. Right now a fast page that says almost nothing simply can't rank for the searches that matter.

Quick wins — technical

- Add LocalBusiness + Service schema with your real NAP, hours and both locations (and AggregateRating from your 495 reviews).
- Generate and submit an XML sitemap in Google Search Console once real pages exist.
- Add descriptive page titles and meta descriptions for every new service/location page.
- Keep images compressed and lazy-loaded as you add photos of both facilities.

■ ON-PAGE & CONTENT

This is what Google reads to decide what you're about and where you serve. Right now it can barely tell — a single brochure page can't explain daycare, boarding, grooming, or two distinct locations.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Title tags & meta	D	 42	One page means one generic title; there's no way to target 'dog boarding Flower Mound' or 'dog grooming Lewisville' separately.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Heading structure	D ⁺	46	A single H1 can't carry the service + city signals Google needs; each service and location deserves its own heading and page.
Content depth & quality	F	35	Brochure-level copy only — no explanation of daycare, boarding or grooming, no pricing, no vaccination policy, no FAQs to reassure buyers.
Service pages	F	30	No dedicated pages for daycare, boarding or grooming — the three things you're known for are invisible to search.
Internal linking	F	32	With one page there is essentially nothing to link between; a real hub-and-spoke (service location service-in-city) doesn't exist yet.
Image SEO	D	44	Images lack descriptive filenames and local alt text, missing easy relevance signals for grooming and both cities.

A single page can't do the work of a real site

The most damaging on-page issue is simply that the site is one page. Your three signature services — daycare, boarding, grooming — and your two locations each deserve their own page with unique copy, pricing guidance, vaccination requirements and an FAQ. Building those pages is the single highest-value on-page move available, because it's the difference between a business Google can't categorize and one it can rank for a dozen high-intent local terms.

Quick wins — on-page

- Create dedicated pages for Doggy Daycare, Overnight Boarding and Grooming, each with unique copy and pricing guidance.
- Create a page for each location (Flower Mound = social/active, Lewisville = calm) explaining who each suits.
- Add an FAQ block covering vaccination requirements, drop-off/pick-up hours, and what to bring.
- Give every image a descriptive filename and local, service-specific alt text.

■ LOCAL SEO & RANKINGS

This is where the money is for a pet-care business — the Map Pack and 'service + city' searches. An elite 4.9/495 reputation should own these; a website with no content to rank on is holding it back.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Map-Pack presence	B	76	Reputation alone earns strong immediate-area visibility, but a near-empty website caps how much further it can reach.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Organic rankings	D ⁺	 48	Mid-to-low for core 'dog boarding / daycare / grooming + city' terms despite a reputation that could rank top-3 — there are simply no pages to rank.
NAP consistency	B ⁻	 72	Name and locations appear consistent, but the missing phone number on the site undermines an otherwise-solid NAP foundation.
Citations & directories	C	 56	Limited presence across pet-care and local directories; consistent citations would reinforce both locations.
City-page coverage	F	 32	No city or location pages for Flower Mound, Lewisville or Highland Village — a major local-SEO gap for a two-location business.
Competitor gap	D ⁺	 48	Far better reviews than rivals, yet they out-rank you locally simply by having service pages, prices and reviews on-site.

Where you rank today — target keywords (estimated)

TARGET KEYWORD	EST. MONTHLY SEARCHES	YOUR RANK	OPPORTUNITY
dog boarding flower mound	390	#12	High
dog daycare flower mound	320	#11	High
dog grooming flower mound	480	#13	High
dog boarding highland village	140	#14	High
doggy daycare near me	1,900	#18	Medium
pet grooming lewisville tx	260	#12	High

Detailed findings

Estimated keyword positions

The table below is an honest estimate of where the site currently sits for high-intent local terms, based on the site's structure and the near-total absence of rankable content. The pattern is striking: elite demand-side reputation, but mid-to-low rankings — not because you're outmatched, but because a one-page brochure gives Google almost nothing to rank. Build the service and location pages and these positions have a clear, fast path upward.

Quick wins — local SEO

- Build unique service pages (boarding, daycare, grooming) and location pages (Flower Mound, Lewisville) targeting 'service + city.'
- Publish 3-4 helpful local articles (e.g. 'What to look for in a Flower Mound dog boarder' or 'How often should your dog be groomed?').

- Build consistent citations on the major pet-care and local directories for both locations.
- Feature your 495 reviews — especially the 55-plus grooming mentions — on every service and city page.

■ CONVERSION & LEAD CAPTURE

Traffic only matters if it turns into booked stays and grooms. This is where the single-page brochure does the most damage — it gives a ready-to-book customer no way to act.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Click-to-call	F	 25	There is no phone number anywhere on the website — a ready customer literally cannot call you from the page they're on.
Contact form UX	D	 44	No meaningful lead-capture form; a visitor who wants to book has to leave the site and hunt for another way to reach you.
Online booking	F	 30	No self-serve scheduling for boarding, daycare or grooming — a baseline expectation for pet care that competitors already offer.
Trust signals	F	 32	Your strongest trust signal — 495 reviews at 4.9 with 55-plus grooming raves — appears nowhere on the site.
Speed-to-lead & tracking	F	 30	With no phone, form or booking, there's nothing to track — so it's impossible to see what the website contributes at all.

Detailed findings

The website is actively losing customers you've already won

This is the heart of the whole audit. A dog parent searching 'dog boarding Flower Mound' finds your elite Google profile, clicks through to the website to book — and hits a brochure with no phone number, no booking, and no reviews. Many will simply leave and call a competitor with a worse reputation but a working website. You are paying for a world-class reputation and then discarding the customers it sends you. A phone number, click-to-call, online booking and a reviews wall would, on their own, likely be the highest-ROI change this business can make.

Quick wins — conversion

- Add your phone number and a tap-to-call button to the top of every page — this is the single most urgent fix.
- Add online booking for boarding, daycare and grooming (or at minimum a short request form per service).
- Add a live reviews wall pulling your 495 Google reviews, with the grooming raves featured prominently.
- Add call and form tracking so you can finally see what the website drives.

04 Priority Fixes & Next Steps

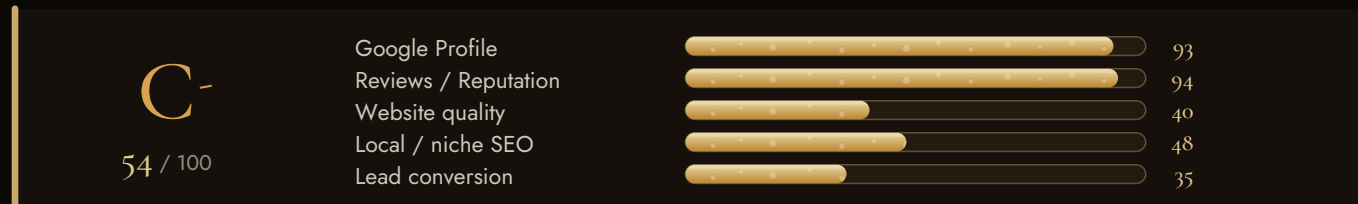

Ordered by impact. We start at the top — the fastest ways to turn your existing traffic into more booked calls.

- 1 Put a phone number on the website — today — The site has no phone number anywhere. Add it, plus a tap-to-call button, to the top of every page. This is the fastest, highest-ROI fix available: right now customers your reputation already sent you cannot call you from the page they're on.
- 2 Add online booking — Self-serve scheduling for boarding, daycare and grooming captures the ready-to-book customer at the exact moment of intent, instead of sending them off to find a competitor who makes it easy.
- 3 Put your 495 reviews on the site — A live reviews wall — with the 55-plus grooming raves featured — turns your single best asset into on-page persuasion and stops your reputation from living only on Google.
- 4 Build real service and location pages — Unique pages for boarding, daycare and grooming, plus one per location (Flower Mound and Lewisville), give Google something to rank and let your reputation finally show up for 'service + city' searches.
- 5 Add local schema + fix the local-SEO gaps — LocalBusiness + Service schema (with AggregateRating and both locations) plus consistent citations expose your rating and addresses to search and AI answers.
- 6 Reactivate the Google Profile — Monthly Posts, a seeded Q&A and fresh photos keep the profile strong and defend the Map Pack while the website catches up.

■ YOUR FIRST 30 DAYS

In the first 30 days we'd move fast on the fixes that stop the bleeding, then build the foundation. Week 1: add your phone number and a tap-to-call button site-wide, and add a live reviews wall showing the 4.9/495 (with the grooming raves) — two changes that immediately let your reputation start converting. Week 2: stand up online booking (or per-service request forms) for boarding, daycare and grooming, and turn on call/form tracking so we can measure the lift. Week 3: build the core service pages (boarding, daycare, grooming) with real copy, pricing guidance and vaccination FAQs, and add LocalBusiness + Service schema. Week 4: build the two location pages (Flower Mound and Lewisville) and reactivate the Google Profile with Posts and a seeded Q&A. None of it touches how you run the business — it simply stops the website from turning away the customers your 495 five-star reviews are already winning.

Your Growth Plan & Solutions · Dog daycare, boarding & grooming

The companion to your audit — the real problems we found, what they're quietly costing you, and exactly how Top Shelf fixes each one.

You've done the hardest thing in local business already: earned a 4.9 rating across 495 reviews, with your grooming praised by name more than 55 times. That kind of reputation is rare. The problem is simple and completely fixable — almost none of it reaches the people searching for you right now. Here's what your audit found, what it's quietly costing you, and exactly how we'd fix each one.

01 What your audit turned up

Three real gaps from your audit — each one grounded in what we actually saw on your site and profile.

1 There's no phone number on your website

COSTING YOU A pet parent ready to book daycare or a groom lands on your site, has a question, and finds no way to reach you — no number, no tap-to-call button. Most of them don't hunt for it. They call the next kennel that makes it easy.

OUR FIX We put a tap-to-call button and your number at the top of every page, and add self-serve online booking so they can reserve boarding, daycare, or grooming in the moment.

THE RESULT Every ready-to-book customer reaches you in one tap — and the ones who'd rather book themselves, can, day or night.

2 Your 495 reviews are nowhere on the site

COSTING YOU A first-time customer nervous about leaving their dog with someone new never sees the 495 reasons to trust you. Your single best asset is doing zero work on the page where the decision actually happens.

OUR FIX We build a live reviews wall — with the grooming raves featured — so your reputation greets every visitor instead of living only on Google.

THE RESULT Your hardest-won asset finally sells for you: new customers arrive already convinced.

3 The whole site is a single-page brochure

COSTING YOU There are no real pages for boarding, daycare, or grooming, no pricing, no booking, and nothing for either location — so Google has almost nothing to rank, and visitors who want the basics leave to find them elsewhere.

OUR FIX We build a proper site: dedicated service pages, a page for each location (Flower Mound and Lewisville), pricing, and booking — plus the local SEO and schema so you show up for “dog boarding Flower Mound.”

THE RESULT You get found for the searches you’re invisible for today, and your reputation finally has somewhere to convert.

Does this sound familiar?

Those are the things we could spot from the outside. But you’re the one running two locations, grooming, daycare, and boarding every single day — so a few of these probably hit closer to home.

O2 Other things we hear from owners like you

Common headaches for a busy pet-care business — and what it looks like once they’re off your plate.

The phone rings while you’re mid-groom or hands-full with dogs

THE DRAG Calls go to voicemail during your busiest hours, and a booking you’d have won just books somewhere else instead.

OUR FIX Online booking so people can reserve without calling, plus an automatic text back the instant a call is missed.

THE RESULT Bookings come in while you work, and no caller is ever left hanging.

No-shows and last-minute cancellations leave runs empty

THE DRAG A boarding slot or grooming appointment that falls through at the last minute is revenue you can’t get back that day.

OUR FIX Automatic confirmations and reminders by text and email before every stay and appointment.

THE RESULT Fewer no-shows, a fuller calendar, and far less time spent on reminder calls.

Holidays fill up, but your regulars aren't the first to know

THE DRAG Peak boarding weeks are your biggest revenue, yet they fill on a first-come basis instead of going to the loyal clients who'd happily book early.

OUR FIX Simple email and text campaigns to your own client list for peak dates, plus packages and memberships.

THE RESULT Your busy seasons sell out to your regulars first — predictable revenue you can plan around.

This is just the tip of the iceberg.

What you've seen here is only your website and Google presence — one slice of your business. The bigger wins are in the parts we can't see from the outside. Let's grab 20 minutes and sit down together to map the rest of the day-to-day headaches Top Shelf can take off your plate — your audit is yours to keep, and you own everything we build.

Let's set up your sit-down.
